Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-7 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stegmann et al., U.S. Patent No. 6,415,050 in view of LaChapelle, U.S. Patent No. 6,163,322 in further in view of Rush, U.S. Patent No. 3,707,115.
3. As per claim 1, Stegmann et al discloses a method for simulating motion of a static 3D physical object in a static scene, comprising: acquiring a 3D graphics model of the 3D physical object (column 1 lines 5-10, 15-25, 58-63); registering a projector with the 3D physical object and the 3D graphics model (column 1 lines 5-10); illuminating the 3D physical object with the animation video to give the 3D physical object and the scene the desired appearance and virtual motion (column 1 lines 58-63). However, Stegmann et al does not disclose segmenting the 3D graphics model into a plurality of parts; editing each of the parts with graphics authoring tools to reflect a desired appearance and virtual motion of each part; rendering the edited parts in real-time as an animation video. This is disclosed in LaChapelle in column 7 lines 5-67 and column 8 lines 1-5. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use animate different parts of the model because this would result in a more realistic animation sequence. Aslo Stegman et al does not disclose acquiring the model of the scene and registering the projector with the scene and projecting the anything onto the scene. This is disclosed in Rush in column 1 lines 25-55 and column 5 lines 1-5. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to animate the scene along with the object because this would add more realism to the animation if the scene was also changing.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 2-7 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
